

“How much do you know about driving schools?”

“Our oldest son had a different instructor every time he drove and it seemed that one never knew what the other had done. They kept asking my son if he’d done this yet, or if he had done that yet.”

With Referral Driving School you will have the same instructor for every session. We follow a written syllabus so you can check and see exactly what training will take place each session. Everything gets covered because we drive with a plan, not just driving around. All of our instructors are also owners and partners in the school. We have a vested interest in your satisfaction.

“We had so much difficulty getting additional appointments that we asked for a refund so we could go to another school. They said since we had paid in full at a discounted rate, there was no refund.”

With Referral we collect our fees as we train. We do not obligate you or hold your money. Our prices are competitive with other schools “discounted” prices. If you were unhappy with us you could switch schools without any difficulty.

“My daughter had never been behind the wheel before and on her first session she drove on the freeway to take another student home. She came home in tears, frightened and never wants to drive again.”

With Referral we do all private sessions, one on one. Our lesson plans are designed for the good of the students training. We never have another student in the car to add peer pressure and we never use students training time and your training dollars to transport other students or run errands. We never “piggy back.” A practice many driving schools use solely to cut their expenses. It is transporting, not training.

“Our coach called a special practice and the driving school charged us $50 for the session cancel. If Sara misses a practice, she can’t play in the game that week.”

At Referral we deal with teenagers every day. We understand that their lives change by the minute. We never charge for missed or canceled appointments. We are understanding and customer friendly.

“We completed training in two months, got our certificate, then went for the DMV test four months later. The DMV was running 45 minutes late for our appointment and then when they checked out our car a light bulb was out. We had to reschedule and try again. My son was so disappointed and I lost half a days work. We couldn’t get another appointment for 35 days. My son’s car in the driveway, that seemed a lifetime to him.”

Referrals Premium Program, the one most of our customers choose, is not only a better way to train, it includes making your drive test appointment for you and taking you to the DMV for the actual test. We insure that our vehicle is in perfect readiness and that all paperwork is on hand. Mom or dad does not have to take time off of work. 98% of our students pass with excellent scores on the first try. Safe and defensive new drivers.

*Six hours behind the wheel and training is over. “Here’s your certificate, good luck with your DMV test.”
No accountability and no responsibility for a students success.*

Referral Driving School is the only school that holds itself accountable. If one of our Premium Program students fail to pass their test on the first try, we take them back again free of charge. We hold ourselves accountable for our training and our program at the DMV every day. With a regular enrollment of just under one thousand students, we take over 200 students to their DMV test every month. We are familiar with DMV requirements, procedures and staff. We make the drive test a pleasant and rewarding experience. Good Training; Good Policies; Good Instruction; Pay as you go format; Accountability; You will be glad you chose Referral.
